Coming Up! Direct Distance Dialing

Illinois Bell today announced plans to improve direct distance dialing for Mokena, Frankfort and New Lenox telephone callers.

Bud Schager, Illinois Bell manager, said new equipment in local telephone offices automatically will record a caller's number when he dials a long distance call. An operator no longer will come on the line to request it.

Known as Automatic Number Identification (ANI), the new service will be introduced first in Mokena, on Saturday, May 10, and in Frankfort in June and New Lenox in July.

ANI will be extended to all one and two-party telephones in the three communities, or to all but about 100 out of a total 5,000 subscribers.

"This service will add new speed, convenience and billing accuracy to direct distance dialing," Schager said.

Ask Mokena Residents Opinion On Paving, Storm Sewer Plan

Early returns from a straw ballot sent Mokena residents in a letter outlining a $1,204,000 street paving and storm sewer program for the community show property owners are against it about 3 1/2 to 1.

Recipients of the proposal who do not mail back the straw ballot will be considered as supporters of the program. In brief, if you don't say "No," you are saying "Yes."

Mulford Engineering Service, which acts as village engineers for Mokena, has prepared estimates covering total street and storm sewer improvements for the built-up portion of the village. The estimates, they explain, have been deliberately kept high "to cover all contingencies and to avoid misleading anyone."

The only possible way to finance such an undertaking, it was pointed out, is by special assessment, providing buyers can be found for this type of bond.

"Cost of an improvement under special assessment is spread in proportion to the benefits received," it was explained to the property owners. "On a street improvement project this is assumed to be in direct proportion to the front footage of the lots. On corner lots, the generally accepted practice is to take a percentage of the side lot length and add this to the frontage to obtain the total frontage divider..."

The approximate assessable frontage on the streets to be paved, with curb and gutter, is estimated at 41,000 feet. The engineers submitted the following estimate of costs.

Street improvements	$700,000
Storm sewer	375,000

Total estimated construction cost	1,075,000
6% for engineering	64,500
6% for making, levelling & collecting	64,500
Total estimated cost	$1,204,000

Less public benefit	190,000
Amount to be spread	$1,014,000
Divided by assessable frontage of 41,000 feet
brings the cost per front foot to	$24.80
With this figure a 60-foot wide interior lot would be assessed at $1,488, payable over a 10-year period, with 6% interest on the unpaid balance, with rights of prepayment without interest.

The public benefit item referred to above is the village's share of the cost. The village gets the money from a tax levied on all properties within its boundaries. Under the law the maximum public benefit tax is five cents per $100 equalized assessed valuation. The assessed valuation figure for the village according to the engineer's report is $3,800,000, and they recommend the maximum allowable public benefit to be assumed by the village, which would come to $190,000.

It is suggested in the report that before any further steps are taken that the village board determine, thru the straw ballot and conversation, whether the residents favor proceeding with the proposed improvements.

It was pointed out that permanent type street paving and curbs at established grades are prerequisite to installation of a storm sewer system.

Applications have been made to the federal government for assistance in the program but the engineers say, "these things take time and are questionable."

There are approximately 500 property owners, or properties in joint ownership in the Village of Mokena, the report states, and the estimated preliminary costs are roughly $2,510 per property, or $251 per year over a 10-year period. This could be lowered, the engineers say, by whatever federal grant might be allowed, but on the other hand it is subject to generally increasing prices.

The straw ballot has seven squares which one may check and a place for one to write comments. The village board would welcome comments. The wording following the squares on the straw ballot follows:

Property owner or joint property owner and resident.

Resident (do not own) of legal age.

Property owner -- non-resident.

I favor the preliminary plan.

I do not favor the plan.

I would vote for it on a referendum.

I would not vote for it.

County Radio Jams TV At Frankfort

Village Attorney August Santoro, of Frankfort, at the instruction of the village board, has written to the county board asking removal of the radio equipment that adorns the Frankfort water tower.

The county uses this equipment to broadcast police calls for the sheriff's office. The village is asking its removal because residents of the village complain to their elected officials that the radio interferes with their television reception.

The county has talked about moving its broadcasting facilities to another location but as yet nothing has been done about it, altho the village board has been voicing complaints for several years. Someone has said that the village is complaining to the wrong body, that it is the federal communications commission that it should be addressing and that the residents whose TV programs are being interrupted should also direct their protests to the FCC.

School Election Results

A building bond issue was carried, two proposed tax rate increases were voted down, and members were elected to five grade school boards and the Lincoln-Way High School board in the annual school elections held last Saturday in the area.

Residents of Summit Hill School 161, which embraces Arbury Hills School gave approval to a $125,000 bond issue which will be used to build an addition to the present school plant. The vote was 104 in favor of the proposition, and 37 against it.

The tax rate increases voted down were proposed in Ann Rutledge District 56-C. The board asked for a 21-cent increase in the educational fund tax rate and a 10-cent hike in the building fund tax rate. The propositions lost by three votes, 52 to 49.

ICC Holds Up RI Fare Changes

The Illinois Commerce Commission has suspended the proposed re-structuring of fares on the Rock Island Lines suburban trains between Joliet and Chicago.

There are 27 stations on the run, including New Lenox, Mokena and Tinley Park in this area. Some of the fares would have been lower than those now in effect, some higher.

Four were elected to the board in the Rutledge district without opposition. Edward Kuchan, with 86 votes, and Eddie Fields with 80 were elected to three year terms. Two were elected to unexpired one-year terms, Mrs. Raymond (Vivian) Loden, 50 votes, and Roy Roberts, 71 votes.

Two board members were elected in the Summit Hill District with three running. The winners, *Julius Sandy, 88 and *John Hayden, 83. Woodrow Horton received 79 votes.

At Mokena, District 159, there were three contenders for the two three-year terms. Winners were *Fremont Warning, 235, and John Winter, 181. Mrs. Berti Mackey polled 145 votes.

In Frankfort District 157C three were elected to three-year terms, *Melvin Eisenbrandt, 143; *Frederick Thompson, 138, and James G. Knippel, 135. The vote of the other two candidates for these places: Fred E. Jurcak, 59; Matt J. Vilutis, 66.

Two were elected to one-year terms, Donald W. Carter, 155, and Donald Stupp Jr., 143.

Four candidates competed for the two three-year terms on the New Lenox District 122 board. *Mrs. Ruth Stoneberger, with 305 votes, and Phillip Gould, with 304 votes, were elected. William Criscione finished close with 293 and Michael Crumley polled 94 votes.

Three were elected to the board of Lincoln-Way High School District 210 without opposition. None are incumbents. The vote: Dr. Robert Keener, Frankfort, 1,144, Dan Mathews, New Lenox, 1,144, and R. Gordon Holliman, Mokena, 1,081.

In the Manhattan District, No. 114, Fred Richards, 103, and David Wandless were re-elected.

Returns from the Joliet Junior College board election: *H. Allen Holler, 7,306; *Victor Scott, 6,970; Kevin Reardon, 6,566; George Osterberger, 6,135 and Robert Hirsch, 2,035. The vote from two small precincts in Grundy County are not included in these figures but it was reported that they would make no change in the results.

Frankfort Pick-Up Day To Be May 5

There's time to get those corners cleaned out before the semi-annual pick-up-and-haul-away-day at Frankfort, but not too much. Haul-away day will be the first Monday in May, which will be May 5, it was announced by Trustee Jerry Francis, who has charge of this.

It is up to the householder to get the stuff out to the spot where the garbage is picked up. The garbage disposal firm is making the pick-up as a part of its contract.

What's new, coffee cup? A kitchen counter that cooks. Electrically, of course.

On the level. A sleek stretch of tempered ceramic is the newest electric range. Only its temperature dials give it away.

It looks like a counter, but it cooks like a range. So where is the heat? Under the tempered ceramic surface. That's its marvelous advantage. Comes clean-up time, all it takes is once-over lightly with a sponge.

First the oven that cleans itself. Now, a counter that cooks, and keeps cleaning simple. Where do these great ideas come from? Where else?

DOESN'T LOOK POSSIBLE that the driver could come out of this alive, but she did. Mrs. Raymond Walters, 37, of 2008 Scott St., Mokena, driver of the car was heading east over the Hamilton Street crossing of the Rock Island Lines shortly after 4 p.m. Friday told county police she did not see the freight train traveling toward Chicago. Her car was hurled into a deep ditch on the east side of the crossing. Mokena firemen came to her rescue and Mrs. Walters was taken to Silver Cross Hospital in the Gerardi ambulance. After treatment and x-rays she was released. The Hamilton Street crossing is not only without gates or warning lights but the roadway crosses the tracks at an angle that makes it difficult for motorists to see approaching trains it was pointed out. It has been suggested that the road be straightened and gates installed. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

Say Work To Continue On I-80 - Rt. 45 Interchange

Work on the interchange of I-80 with U.S. 45 is scheduled to be done this summer as contracted for, according to the State Highway District Engineer's office at Elgin. That is District 1.

The engineer's office said there was no basis for the report heard in the area that, because of the Wolf Rd. Expressway project, work would be held up on the I-80-Rt. 45 interchange because it was undesirable to have interchanges too close together. The Wolf Road Expressway would cross I-80 about a mile west of Rt. 45, it was said.

The District Engineer's office at Elgin, which has charge of the I-80 - Rt. 45 interchange plans, expects the work to be completed this summer. The Elgin office does not have anything to do with the South Suburban Freeway Corridor, a map of which was published recently in this newspaper. That is under the supervision of the District 10 office, in Cook County.

A firm of engineers has been retained as consultants to make a study of the Wolf Rd. project and it probably will be a year before it has a report ready, perhaps even longer, it was said, and it could be three years, possibly four, before any work is started unless -- and that is a big unless -- it should be decided to establish the proposed new international airport in this area or northern Indiana.

In the event the airport is located out this way -- in Green Garden, the area east of Frankfort, Homer or over in Indiana -- this Wolf Road project would get top priority, engineers agreed. It would run north to make a connection with the tollway leading to O'Hare Field, via I-55, and the south leg would turn east, south of Frankfort and head for a connection with Indiana's expressways.

Another north-south route, No. 61, is slated to hook-up with I-80 near New Lenox. New Lenox would like an interchange with I-80 on Cedar Rd. and advocates of such improvement are optimistic that eventually there will be such an interchange after Rt. 61 is built.

The show is held strictly for amateur artists. Students as well as adults are expected to enter. It is sponsored by the PTO and profits will go into the budget to be distributed to schools in district No. 122.

A bigger and better show is expected this year due to better facilities, more room for exhibits, and music provided for visitors to the show. The budget and finance committee will sell refreshments at a snack bar.

There will be exhibits in eleven categories, oil, acrylic, watercolor, etching, charcoal, pastels, pen and ink, ceramics, collages, sculpture, wood and metal.

Student and children art will be judged separately from adults. Last year some award winning paintings were donated to the schools and now hang in the hallways.

This year the artists will have the opportunity to sell their art work as well as meet other artists and the three judges. A vote for "Peoples Choice" of the exhibits will be made by visitors to the art show. The art will be on display two days from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Miracle PG Hormones Show Promise

Copyright 1969 World Book
Science Service

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has restricted testing on humans of the newest and possibly most miraculous family of hormones yet isolated -- the prostagladins (PGs).

Therefore, most clinical testing has been done outside the U.S. But in February the Upjohn Co. announced the test-tube synthesis of one of the PGs, the universally promising PGE1, and expressed the hope that clinical trials would soon resume for this "hottest property in medicine since the corticosteroids."

Medical MEMO

By BETTY JOHN

PGE1, when inhaled, clears up nasal congestion for from one to 14 hours, longer than any other decongestant.

In Sweden and in Germany, couples have been testing PGE1 for increased male fertility where the sperm count has been too low. In Uganda, doctors find that both PGE1 and PGF2a induce labor in difficult and delayed delivery because they bring on normal uterine contractions.

In Michigan, researchers are feverishly exploring PGF2a as a "morning after" contraceptive, since it has been found to dissolve the corpus luteum.

And Upjohn researchers have found that PGE1 halts gastric secretion in dogs, indicating it could become an ideal treatment for peptic ulcers.

They also found that PGE1 is a powerful vasodilator which can successfully lower blood pressure, and that it inhibits platelet aggregation, indicating a possible value in treating blood clots.

To date, Dutch and U.S. researchers have synthesized at least nine PGs. These potent substances are found in the human body, and 1/1000 of a microgram can cause a muscle to contract.

They are formed from essential fatty acids, the prostagladins, and occur in practically all tissues, but are in highest concentration in semen. For experimental purposes, they are taken from sheep seminal vesicles.

There are 16 known PGs with actions as varied as their number. Their potentialities are so exciting that some 652 scientific papers have been written about them in the last two years.

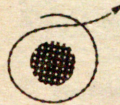

LIMBS -- When Dr. Augusto Sarmiento of Veterans' Hospital, Miami, operates on a person who has lost an arm or leg, the patient wakes up to find a temporary but workable artificial limb fitted to the stump. He says such patients make a better psychological adjustment to the loss, have less pain and heal faster than those who must wait for the stump to heal before being fitted.

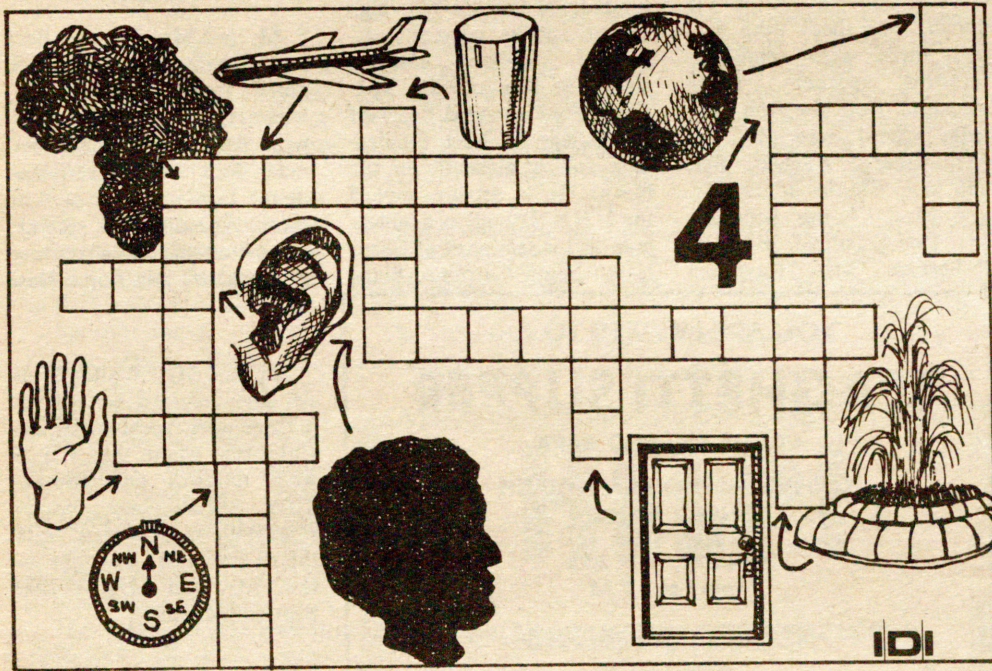

SOARING FISH

The flying fish throws itself from the water with the motion of its strong tail. Once in the air, it spreads out its large fins, which act like the wings of a glider. Body muscles and the tail fin help the fish to turn in flights, which may extend from 150 to 1,000 feet.

Signs Of Confusion

Copyright 1969 World Book
Science Service

How would you like the assignment of drawing a set of signs that everybody in the world would understand?

If you think that's tough, you're right! But it is needed.

With increased international trade and travel, we need quick and fool-proof ways of communicating even such simple but vital information as "entrance" and "exit".

At international airports, on docks and loading platforms all over the world, this problem comes up every day.

Consider this example: In many countries the symbol for "fragile" is a cracked wine goblet.

But recently longshoremen at an African port thought the sign meant "broken glass," and they threw several cases of glassware overboard!

Manufacturers of goods, sold around the world point out that even such basic information as "on" and "off" can get to be a big headache when your customers speak the languages of 100 different countries!

At each international event, like a world fair or the Olympics, they are symbols all over the place.

So far, there have been problems every time. At Expo '67, for example, a silhouette of an open palm was placed on certain doors to indicate "do not enter."

But many people thought it meant "place your hand here and push." The signs came down.

There are now many organizations working on making sense of the confusion that exists. Hopefully, one of these days all the planning committees will get together!

How are you at reading sign language? Use the picture clues to fill in the crossword puzzle.

ANSWERS: Across--airplane, ear, hand, silhouette, four. Down--Africa, north, glass, door, fountain, world.

Letters To The Editor

Opposes Storm Sewer Spending Plan

Sir:

Due to a federal sur-tax being imposed on individuals and possibly a state income tax being put into law the property owner is financially in dire straits at this time, and therefore, I would oppose a storm sewer project for the village of Mokena.

For many years we waited in vain for the village to improve Front Street and to eliminate the water flooding problem. When we complained about the dangerous holes in the street and which would become flooded in a heavy rain we were at the mercy of the village and had to cope with the flooding problem the best way we could without any assistance from the village.

In a few months individuals will receive their personal and real estate tax bills which will be increased due to a referendum passed for the addition and building of our local public grade school. Next year taxes will also be raised with the passing of the referendum this year for another addition to Lincoln-Way High School.

With these increases I feel the storm sewer project should be voted down at this time and until such a time when industry is established in the village to augment the financial burden of a growing community.

Mr. and Mrs. Westlund received many lovely gifts and everyone enjoyed themselves.

Many relatives came to help celebrate their anniversary. Miss Adeline Semmler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oestreich and family, of Joliet, Mr. Robert Oestreich, Jr. and fiancée, Miss Lynn Zoleski, of Joliet, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Watkins and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Riley and family of Joliet.

Annual election of officers of the Summit Hill Parent Teachers Organization is to be conducted tomorrow night (April 17) at Arbury Hills School. The new officers will be installed at the May meeting.

Following the business session tomorrow night a film will be shown of vacation spots in Illinois.

The meeting tomorrow is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Registration for the preschool vision and hearing tests for the 3 1/2 year olds to 5 year olds, sponsored jointly by the Arbury Hills Lions Club and the Summit Hill Parent-Teacher Organization with the assistance of the Will County Health Department, will take place at the Arbury Hills School on Tuesday, April 22 from 9 until 11:30 a.m. and from 1:00 until 2:00 p.m.

The tests will be given only to those children who have been previously registered. The date of the actual tests is Tuesday, May 13.

Re-tests will be given to those children who tested doubtful in the first test for either or both the vision and hearing test. The re-tests will be given a few days following the original tests.

St. Mary School of Mokena will not be in session on Friday, April 18. At that time there will be parent-teacher conferences and the distributing of report cards for the last marking period.

The Arbury Hills Cub Scouts will have their regular monthly Pack Meeting at the school on next Friday evening, April 25 beginning at 7:30 P.M. Attendance by the parents at the pack meetings has been commendable. Keep up the good work!

The following day, Saturday, April 26 the Cub Scouts will canvas the school district with a selection of heavy duty chrome plated clothes hangers to sell as a fund raising project. These will come just in time to hang up the winter clothes for storage during the warmer weather. Please treat the boys in your usual kindly manner.

The Arbury Hills Lions Club Easter Egg Hunt was finally held on Saturday morning, April 5 with everyone somewhat ignoring the more than adequate supply of mud contributed by the spring rains.

The rains, coupled with the tumbling temperatures the previous week, had caused a postponement of the hunt. Now, just like the mailman or the actors show, it must go on. Many swarms of children, some accompanied by parents, came to scout out the 750 eggs hidden in the area.

Much to the delight of the youngsters, there were specially marked eggs which brought to the lucky hunter a cash prize. The Easter Bunny must not have been too resourceful, since the eggs were found in a matter of a few short minutes, but much fun for all.

Mrs. Marlene Mroz of Poplar Street is now back home again after recent surgery and is recouping nicely.

Mulch Tillage Aids Fight To Save Soil

Will-South Cook Soil Conservativist, Allan May, says that the erosion process starts when a raindrop strikes the soil. Soil particles detached by the force of falling rain fill the small openings in the surface of the soil and seal it to the entrance of water. This prevents additional water from soaking into the soil. The surplus becomes runoff water which carries with it loosened soil particles. If the runoff water concentrates into small rills and cuts channels, gully erosion occurs. Mulch tillage with crop residues left on the surface protects the soil from the force of falling raindrops or strong winds. Mulch tillage systems vary over the state. One method in use for corn is to first disk or chop the corn residue in fall and then chisel plow or field cultivate to loosen the top 6 inches to 9 inches of soil. In the spring, farmers cross or angle the field with a field cultivator or chisel to a 9 inch depth applying fertilizer at the same time.

This is the time of year when farmers fear heavy rains and strong winds. Many soils are bare with no crop cover to protect them. Far too often, the result is gullied fields and dust-filled skies which make farming and other activities difficult.

Robert K. Lawson, Agronomist with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service at Champaign, forecasts brighter skies in the future. He says more and more farmers are switching to mulch-type tillage operations each year.
